MAINE'S NEW LIQUOR LAW.

Heavy Penalties Piled Up on Paper-Some Points on the Last "Statoot." BANGOR, March 31.—The whole State, and this town in particular, is in a ferment over the strait-jacket liquor law passed by the last Legislature, and signed by Gov. Bodwell, the man who in his inaugural address expressed the opinion that we had "law enough" on the liquor question. Saloon keepers, hotel proprietors, and druggists spend half their time discussing the new law, which is a docu-ment at once ponderous, severe, and intricate beyond comprehension, and in asking the conundrum, "Will they or can they enforce it?" As Gov. Bodwell said in his address, we had plenty of law before, and everybody knows how the old statute was enforced. "It was a nuisance in the western part of the State, and a complete dead letter in Bangor, and so it may well be asked whether a law much more severe

The new statute provides that any person selling any intoxicating liquor in the State contrary to law shall be fined $50 and costs, and is addition thereto imprisoned thirty days for the first offence, and, in default of payment imprisoned thirty days additional, onlie for each subsequent offence he shall be fined $200 and costs and imprisoned six months, with six months additional in default of payment. Any elerk or agent who aids or assists in violating months additional in default of payment. Any clerk or agent who aids or assists in violating the law in any manner is held alike guilty with the principal, and is subject to the same penalties. A common seller is subject to a fine of $100 and thirty days' imprisonment, or, instead of such fine, sixty days' additional imprisonment on first conviction. On a second and every subsequent conviction the penalty is a fine of $200 and costs and four months' imprisonment, and in efault of payment four months' additional imprisonment. The payment of a United States special tax as liquor seller is held as prima facie evidence that the party paying the tax is a common soiler, and that his premises are a common nulsance. If a man is found boozy in the street he is to be fined not more than $10 or imprisoned thirty days for the first offence, and for each subsequent offence he is to go behind the bars for thirty days.

This is one of the funny features of the new "statoot." It makes Bangorians smile to think what the harvest would be at the police station some of these fine mornings, providing the blue-coated reapers were diligent and impartial. It might happen that certain gentlemen whose services would be valuable outside should be included in the grist, and, sad to say, the fool of a law makes no allowance for apoplexy or anything of that sort. As the Mikado says, "We'll have it changed—next session." A druggist may mix a little liquor in a prescription, but can't sell you a gill of whe, a little brandy, nor any alcohol. The loss of the alcohol jobbing trade will be a severe blow to the drug business of Bangor, this city being the base of supplies for a large section of courtry. Should the law be enforced all this trade will go to Boston.

The new law excites more discussion here in Bangor than anywhere else in Maine, for this state town of open bars, the town that sicebol jobbing trade will be a severe blow to the drug business of Bangor, this city being the base of supplies for a large section of courty. Should the law be enforced all this trade will go to Beston.

The new law excites more discussion here in Bangor than anywhere else in Maine, for this is the town of open bars, the town that Neal Dow and the Rev. Joe Cook unite in pronouncing a modern Sodom. After free swing and quiet times for some years it would be a woful change now to sham prohibition, red-eye whis-key, and back doors, and the introduction of such a state of things would be attended by highly interesting ceremonies, for the people here are not quite ready to give up the morning cocktail or exchange a respectable, leisurely nipo of old Bourbon for a hurried pull out of a "heeler's" pint bottle. Some of the saloon keepers are already laying out schemes for beating the law, others say it will "never go," while a few of the more timid declare their intention to get out of the State. The most brilliant scheme yet suggested, and one which seems to fully meet the exigencies of the case, is for all hands to go into the "original packages" business, selling only by the bottle, "notto be opened or drunk on the premises." An importer's license for selling in original packages containing less than five gallons is only $25, and such a dealer cannot be touched by the State law. The United States tariff law provides that liquors imported in bottles shall come in packages of not less than one dozen bottles cach, but says nothing about the size of the bottles, so that the importer can suit himself in that respect. It would be an edifying spectacle to see dignified Bangorians marching up to the bar for their little bottles and then retiring to some other premises to empty them. If this original package business ever does start, it will be a great thing for saloon keepers and bottle makers, but it doesn't seem to reach the case of the poor fellow who buys too many "packages ultimes to be promised to will fine the prov

AMUSEMENTS. American Opera.

The season of American opera closed yesterday afternoon with a brilliant performance of "Nero." In spite of stormy weather a large audience assembled in the Metropolitan, and the artists did their utmost to carry through their arduous labors in such a manner as to do 'illest justice to Rubinstein's difficult work. Whatever the financial success of the national opera enterprise proves to be, there can be no doubt of its artistic portion of its working, of every detail of its production, reflects nothing but credit upon all concerned in its management. What it undertook to do has been admirably accomplished. The fact that opera in English can be not only free from the clement of the ridiculous, a shadow that always heretofore has followed every such attempt, but that English opera can also be grand opera has now surely been demonstrated. The hold experiment of giving performances in the Metropolitan closely upon the departing heels of a great and powerful operation troups has shown now near is many fregards to the enormously niga standard of merit set by the preceding company our National one stands, and it also tends to convince us that the Metropolitan Opera House, far from being an exacting difficult place to fill, is a grateful one, which not only does ample mastice to performers, but serves as an adorning frame for every picture, helping instead of hindering every musical effort however great or however insignificant. triumph. WASHINGTON, April 2.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission began active work at 11 this morning, and a hearing was granted to ex-Gov. Rufus B. Bullock, Dr. R. D. Spaulding. and Mr. S. F. Woodson, a committee appointed by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce to cooperate with the Southern Railway and Steam ship Association in seeking such liberal interpretation or modification of the operation of the Inter-State Commerce act as may be deemed necessary for the protection of the manufacturing and commercial in-terests of the South. Gov. Bullock read a paper or petition asking the Commission to pass an oader on or before April 5 to the effect that the schedule of rates in the territory south of the Potomac and Ohio and east of the Mississippi litvers, so far as these rates relate to Inter-State commerce, be declared of force until the further order of the Commission, and that reasonable time be given for a further hearing and revision before may changes are put in force. They submitted a schedule of rates of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association and a comparative statement showing the great increase which will occur in rates to the principal points if the railways put in force the rate they now understand the new law will require."

The Chairman of the Commission, Judge Cooley, remarked interrogatively that he understood the application to be, in part at least, in support of the application which had been made by the railroad companies for permission to charge less for long than for short hauls. Gov. Bullock responded affirmatively.

"At present, then, the railroads are charging less for a longer than for a shorter distance," said Judge Cooley.

Gov. Bullock said this was the case where it was necessary to meet the dircumstances of water transportation. The railroads, he added, had informed them that unless they made their rates at once hey would be liable to penalties under the lime. Contracts had been made by merchants for delivery three months hence, based upon the rates which prevailed at the time. Now, to suddenly raise these rates would prove disastrous. Here the hearing ended.

The whole proceeding was an informality, the hearing having been granted at this time as a favor to gentlemen who had come from a distance to present their case. No formal consideration of this question or any other will be undertaken before the 5th instant, on which date the law goes into effect. paper or petition asking the Com to pass an oader on or before April 5 to the ef-

During Easter week we intend to fair. hustle trade. To begin with, on Friday last we put the clippers into the prices of 3,000 men's and young men's spring suits that were formerly $18, $20, $25, $28, and $30 (worth it, too), and threw them out at $12 each.

It fairly startled men to see such clothes at such prices-elegant corkscrew and wide diagonal outaway suits, stylish imported worsteds in sacks and cutaways. fine foreign and domestic cheviot suits. all colors and patterns; in fact, a variety that filled nearly a quarter of the corner store. Not odds and ends either, but all sizes, and plenty of them; a wealth of splendid suits, and your choice for the trifling sum of $12. Who cannot afford to dress well? Smart men are buying two suits, a dark one for early spring. a light one for summer; they know a good thing when they see it, even in the face of a snow storm.

Next comes men's spring overcoats; not so many as of the suits, but just as good bargains. Several hundred overcoats, formerly $15, $18, and $20, have marching orders at $11 apiece.

For the boys, we place 950 blouse suits at the tempting price of

$3.00 each

They were made to be sold for $4.50, $5.50, and $6.50. We mean to reward the parents for coming to the down-town store where all these bargains are offered, because at the new store up town there is not room enough to accommodate such crowds as we are prepared to serve at Broadway and Prince st.

Both stores display a splendid stock of new spring goods, complete in every department.

FOR THE BLOOD.

SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA., .US. A.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS of a cure. I went under treatment of one of the most distinguished physicians of new York city, then to Dr. Agnew of Philadelphia, and these failed to effect a cure. A COPPERSMITH'S STORY.

I am a copperamith by trade, and during a series of years my arms (being bare when at work) have absorbed wonderful amount of metal poison. Having a scrofulous tendency from my youth, the small particles of copper and brass would get into the sores, and by this process the poison was conveyed into my blood till my whole system became infected. I was treated with the old remedies of mercury and iodide of potassium. Salivation followed; my teeth are all loose in my head, my digestive organs deranged, and I have been helpless in bed for over a year with mer urial rheumatism. My joints were all swollen, and I lost the use of my arms

My sufferings became so intense that it was impossible for me to rest. The doctors advised me to go to the city hospital for treatment. This I could not bear. A friend, who has proved a friend indeed, urged me to try SWIFT's SPECIFIC, believing it would cure me. Others discour-aged me, but I secured a few bottes, and have now taken two dosen bottles. The first effect of the medicine was to bring the poison to the surface, and f broke out all over in running sores. They soon disappeared and my skin cleared off. My knees, which had become twice their natural size, have resumed their usual size, and are as supple as of yors. My arms and hands are all right again, and I can use them without pain. The entire dis-case has left all parts of the body save two ulcers on my wrists, which are heating rapidly. I am weak from long confinement, but I have the use of all my limbs. This medicine is bringing me ont of the greatest trial of my life, and I cannot find words sufficient to express my appreciation of its virtues and the graditude I feel that I ever heard of it. PETER E. LOVE, Augusta, Go.

TERRIBLE CASE CURED.

In 1878 I was poisoned by contact with poison cak. My face and neck swelled terribly, and the itching and burning sensation was almost unbearable. I tried both the homospathic and allogathic treatment, but both failed

I tried Hot Springs, Arkansas, and Bloams Springs, Alabama, where I found temporary relief only. For two years I suffered on, and alternated between comparative rollef and sufferings that seemed beyond my power to bear. It seemed, no matter what I did, as if it were impossible to rid myself of the poison. In 1884, in October, when in depression, but having very little faith in it, I commenced using SWIFT'S SPECIFIC. After I had taken a number of bottles I felt that my digestion and general health were improved, but, so far as I could tell. the poison was still in my system. After I had finished the second dozen bottles I began to see a change for the better. Rearly every sign of my dread affliction had disappeared, my skin was clear and in its normal con-dition, and again I believed that I was forever free from this terrible affliction. I have now completed my forty-eighth bottle, and feel free again, with no sign of any gruption but a few pumples, which I believe to be the last aint signs of the result of my terrible blood poisoning. I cannot say too much in praise of the S. S. S. J. B. SHERMAN.
